

Workshop on diffuse pollution sources

How to develop solutions for tackling those pressures at local level?

EUROPE-INBO 2015

October 21, 2015, Thessaloniki, Greece

PROVISIONAL AGENDA
Timings	Contents	Speaker
13:00 13:15	Registration and Welcome coffee
	PART I: Introduction
	Welcoming address	Jacques Ganoulis, Water Director, Greece Philippe Dupont, ONEMA
13:15 14:15	Diffuse pollution sources, status and stakes in Europe	Claire McCamphill, European Commission, DG ENV
	Greek National policy on diffuse pollution sources	Chrisoula Nikolarou, Member (Focal Point) of Nitrates Committee, Special Secretariat for Water, Ministry of Environment & Energ, Greece
	Diffuse pollution, the approach in Scotland	Darrel Crothers, SEPA, Scotland

	PART II: Separate working sessions (3)
	Split group A- Theme 1 Strategies and stakeholders involvement for reduction of diffuse pollution
	Split group B- Theme 2 Mitigation measures against diffuse pollution in particular for drinking water abstraction
	Split group C- Characterization of pressures and risk of impacts relative to diffuse pollution
	Working format of each split group
14 :15 16:15	Introduction (10')	All participants
	Introductory presentations (2*10')
	Theme 1: * Case study: Laurence Amblard, IRSTEA, France * Case study: Rebecca Audsley, Scotland
	Theme 2: * Case study : Antonio Lo Porto, Project COST 869
	Theme 3: * Case study : Przemysław Gruszecki, KZGW, Poland * Case study: Ray Earle, Ireland
	Group discussions organised around 4 questions (60') Final discussion on what to report back from the work of the group (15')	All participants
16:15 16:30	Coffee break
	PART III: Conclusion
16:30 17:30	Presentations of conclusions of the split groups by the rapporteurs (10') and discussion (5')	Rapporteurs + all participants
	Overall Conclusion	Yannick Pochon, OIEau

Working language will be English.

Outcomes of this workshop will be presented at the EUROPE-INBO Conference on 22 October 2015 during a round-table and within a specific publication of the outcomes in French and English.